

A directed graph with blue nodes and red edges, showing a complex network structure. The graph consists of approximately 30 nodes and 40 edges. A single green node is located on the left side of the graph, near the bottom. The edges are red and directed, forming a complex web of connections between the blue nodes. The graph appears to be a representation of a network or a flow system.